REPORT OF THE FIREWARDS.

There was but one alarm of fire during the past year, viz : April 5th, an alarm of fire was given caused by the burning of brush and grass on land of O. K. Wheelock, near the Fur-bush place (so-called). The department responded to the alarm and the fire was soon extinguished without the aid of the engine. July 4th, a barn belonging to S. S. Stone, on the Josiah Moore place (so-called), was struck by lightning late in the evening and entirely consumed by fire with its contents ; no alarm was given of this fire and the department was not called out ; loss about $400, no insurance.

There has been added to the equipment during the past year four lengths of the best and latest improved rubber hose, at a cost of about $83. The department is now well supplied with hose. The engine and other apparatus belonging to the department are in good condition and repair. —

For expenses of the department we refer you to the report of the selectmen.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN E. FISHER,

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.

The school board of Fitzwilliam take pleasure in presenting the following report for the year ending March 1, 1893.

There has been a marked improvement in our schools, no term has been an entire failure and most have been highly satisfactory.

Whispering, the bane of every school where it is allowed, has in most instances been very nearly exterminated, one or two terms have been a disappointment to us in that respect.

We have employed experienced teachers; four of the twelve employed this year have worked in the same school many terms, three others have taught two terms or more in town. We think it pays to retain good teachers.

There has been no school in No. 12 this year, and but one term in No. 3. All the scholars from that district, who would avail themselves of the privilege, were transported to Columbian school.

Measles prevailed to such an extent as to greatly interrupt No. 5 winter term, and Columbian school was closed four weeks on account of that disease. This school did not commence till October 17, the house not being ready for occupancy, consequently has not yet closed.

We attribute in some measure the improvement in our schools to the code of rules for marking deportment, which was given to every teacher with the promise to print a roll of honorable deportment. We decided to place on this roll the names of all whose average deportment for the time they attended school during the year was over 95; many whose names will not appear in this list averaged 95. We think it will be pleasant for those who have tried to do their best to see their names on this roll, and others who have not quite reached this number we hope will be so thoughtful and studious that they will place their names in next year's report. It is not usually the child's fault if his name is not on the roll of perfect attendance, but every child may if he will have his name on the roll of honorable deportment.

Should it be necessary for a school board who have no children in our schools, to urge parents, whose all is at stake in the success their children make of life, to see and perform a duty so perceptible to an ordinary intellect as the visiting of schools, to see that their children are improving the advantages given them, that they are orderly, respectful, obedient and industrious?

We find this year recorded in our registers the names of four fathers in all this town of Fitzwilliam who visited their children in the school room, viz: Jonas Damon, William Whipple, Edward P. Foster and Rev. A. S. Fay.

We this year introduced Raub's New Normal Readers, the only change made in books.

New and comfortable seats and desks have been put in No. 10, making it with the improvements of last year a pleasant schoolroom.

We hope the parents will see that their children are ready to enter their respective schools the first day of next term, and not permit them to be absent for trifling causes during the year.

M. E. SPAULDING,
For School Board.
